Home and School Club Ask For Health Nurse

DEPUTATION POINT OUT ADVANTAGES TO COUNCIL

A deputation of members of the Home and School Association called upon Council Thursday night to authorize the establishment of health supervision in the local high and public schools.

At a previous meeting, members of the home and school associations discussed the necessity of a public health nurse in the town, and the setting up of pre-natal and baby clinics. The health supervision scheme would provide weekly inspection visits in each of the schools. Demonstrations in nutrition would also be conducted, it was considered.

Mrs. Harry Bell, chairman of the home and school group, pointed out that services of a public health nurse would necessitate an annual salary expenditure of $1,500.

"Pupils in our educational institutions have not been given adequate medical attention in the past," said Dr. J. H. Wesley, M.O.H. "By combining our co-operation and money we could afford better health protection for our children through health supervision," he declared.

H. A. Jackson, principal of Newmarket public school, emphatically stressed the necessity for the services of a public health nurse. He said that more than 80 per cent. of time lost by pupils in his school was principally due to illness. "Between 1910 and 1941, 5,981 school days were lost through sickness alone," he said.

Principal J. B. Bastedo of the high school, said that school attendance records revealed that at least 80 per cent. of school absence was caused through illness.

"There is a great need for health supervision in this town," declared Mayor Dr. W. L. Dales. "Sickness has cost the town of Newmarket a much greater expense than education itself."

Mayor Dales moved that the matter be given expedient consideration by the local board of health for approval.

A proposal to establish a new town clerk's office to alleviate "cramped" conditions in the present building, was shelved for the time being.

It was felt by several of council members that owing to the uncertainty of present conditions, it would not be advisable to undertake the expenditure of such a building.

Members of the property committee last week investigated the possibility of procuring the store recently vacated by Lindenbaum's for the establishment of a clerk's office, but the building was considered unsatisfactory.

The grounds around the town hall are to be beautified with numerous plants and shrubs, and the job is already underway. A ten-foot stretch in front of police offices will be sodded and the general appearance should be gratifying to the citizens.

the inadequate heating facilities and cramped space conditions in the present office. "It is almost impossible to conduct a proper system of bookkeeping in my office, for space will not permit sufficient filing room," he said.

"The present heating system in the building is actually hazardous, and if fire were to break out, the town's records would be destroyed, and approximately $50,000 in taxation records would be lost," he said. "The antiquated heating system is too risky to take a chance," he added.

The town traffic system, which was recently revamped by council, has been approved by the Ontario Department of Highways. Clerk Mathews reported. A by-law was passed to put the new traffic regulations into force.

Sergt. George Germain Has Narrow Escape

BOMBER RIDDLED IN 42 PLACES

Sergt. George Germain, of the R.C.A.F., and son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Germain, Prospect Street, again hits the headlines in air action over enemy country. The following article appeared in the daily press of Friday:

There were two new Canadian air heroes to-day—Sgt. Pilots Fred Hiley of Toronto, and William Maitland of Vancouver—who covered themselves with glory when they disregarded wounds to bring back two damaged aircraft in a recent R.A.F. raid on Stuttgart.

The pilots of Hamilton bombers, they brought back their machines with one engine in each in flames, and the fuselages punctured by flak.

Hiley, who is 29, was wounded in the wrist. He struggled with his aircraft for 2½ hours before making a crash landing. Maitland, 20-year-old son of the British Columbia attorney-general, R. L. Maitland, was saved by a silver cigarette case in the breast pocket of his jacket which stopped a chunk of flak. He suffered a slight chest wound silently until able to land.

Both young Canadians were commended by their commanding officer, Wing-Commander D. A. R. Bradshaw of London, Ont.

Of Hiley's exploit he said: "It was a magnificent piece of work and the whole squadron is proud of him."

Maitland was described by Bradshaw as a "plucky, efficient pilot and a credit to his squadron."

There were 42 holes in Hiley's aircraft. The entire electrical and hydraulic systems were out of commission and one wheel was useless, the undercarriage dangling like the leg of a wounded duck.

One member of the crew was killed at his post and Hiley was nicked in the right wrist by a machine-gun bullet. He made a successful crash-landing with the remainder of his crew. Sgt. George H. Germain of Newmarket, the observer, and Sgt. George Johnson of Essex, England, the wireless operator and air gunner.

"We dropped our bombs in the target area," Hiley related. "A short time later we were badly hit by flak. The starboard engine was hit and burst into flames. Then as if we weren't in trouble enough, an enemy night fighter gave us an awful going over with cannon and machine-gun fire and hit our tail gunner. He almost got me, too. Three times the Jerry attacked us but he tried once too

Ernest Green of Hamilton, charged with vagrancy and assault, and who was remanded until this week for sentence, appeared at Newmarket Police Court on Tuesday and was sentenced to two weeks in jail on the first charge and fined $1 and $10.75 costs on the second charge.

"On Saturday, April 25, at 10.20 p.m. in company with Constable Fleury, I stopped a car on Machell Street in Aurora owned by Ziegler," testified Constable F. Dunham. "The two accused were in the car and I asked them if there was any liquor in their car and they said there wasn't. We searched the car and found two cases of beer in the back and a bottle of whiskey under the front seat. They said they didn't own it, that the beer was left in the car and the whiskey belonged to a friend. Neither one had been opened. They came from a house on Machell avenue and had been in there about fifteen minutes."

"I was taking this beer home to a friend and stopped at a house on the way up," declared Ziegler.

"What house?" asked Crown Attorney Mathews.

"My own house," "We opened one case of beer and drank it," continued accused. "We picked two soldiers up in Toronto and they must have left the whiskey in the car."

CLUB DONATES $100 TO RED CROSS

Newmarket Lions were given an entirely different conception of the use of gas in war on Monday night when they listened to an all too short address by Sydney Hermant, vice-president of the Imperial Optical Company, Toronto, and an authority and instructor on this subject.

The speaker told the gathering that the use of gas in war was to annoy the enemy, not to kill, and while it was developed intensively in the last war, it was as old as the hills, being used by the Chinese in ancient times and referred to in history as "stink pots." The incendiary bomb was an offshoot of the five brands used in early days.

In 1905 a treaty was made by all the major powers but the United States not to use gas in war. This was violated by the Germans in 1915. Another pact was signed by these powers in 1925, and was again broken by the Italians in Ethiopia in 1925.

"British troops were not prepared for a gas attack in 1915, thinking that the treaty would not be violated," declared Mr. Hermant, but we were ready this time, and the Germans know that the big element of success in such an

MAJOR MUIR IN CHARGE OF NORTH BAY CAMP

In the neighborhood of 500 soldiers from points throughout Canada who went "back to school" last week at Canadian Army Educational Basic Training Centre No. 22, Fort Chippewa Barracks, the first and only military establishment of its kind in Canada, were praised by the commandant and educational instructors for their eagerness and discipline which have made the experiment a decided success from the outset.

"Everything is going along well and better than expected," said Lt.-Col. J. M. Muir, V.D., the commanding officer, when interviewed regarding the progress made since the camp was changed over from a basic training centre to one combining the preliminary army instruction with an elementary education.

Many Are Keen
"Classes have been underway since last Friday and an interesting feature is that quite a large number are so keen about the educational classes that they've been coming back after hours at night," he reported, adding "It's a matter of where they left off at school. We take them on from there. They are taken far enough that they can get their basic army training."

One interesting point, he volunteered, was that the first thing some of the classroom soldiers had done was their ability to write rapidly improved was to write letters home to their people—the first letters that some of them had ever written.

Designed to provide a simple education to those men who didn't previously have the benefit of one, and to assist others to brush up on subjects that they had studied years ago but hadn't put into practice, 36 classes are at present in operation, working in two shifts of 18 each.

In this manner the men, who spend approximately 40 per cent. of their working hours in the classroom and the balance taking the basic army training, can be taken in groups for their studies, which include reading, writing and spelling and some arithmetic, thus saving much time, it was explained.

At present the classes are held in mess halls, lecture huts, or wherever else it is convenient to hold them, but 18 classrooms in permanent quarters will be set up as soon as C.A.B.T.C. No. 26

THE RED CROSS NEEDS $9,000,000 NOW!

It is only through the Canadian Red Cross Society that anybody in Canada can send food parcels to any Canadian, British, Australian or New Zealand prisoner-of-war anywhere.

This is but one of the great tasks of the Canadian Red Cross; great tasks require great effort and much money.

More than 40,000 prisoners-of-war food parcels are sent overseas by the Red Cross every week. This number must be more than doubled to meet the actual need. More than a million such parcels have already been sent to prisoners-of-war. It all costs money. The Canadian Red Cross Society has not campaigned nationally for funds since October, 1940. It now asks urgently for $9,000,000 in the only national campaign for war service funds to be authorized by the Government this year.

Every dollar contributed by you is wisely dealt with and economically administered. All Red Cross accounts are subject to scrutiny by the Auditor-General of Canada.

The Canadian Red Cross has given enormous assistance to the injured and homeless in bombed areas in Britain. At Coventry and Hull, in devastated London, Plymouth, Bristol and Liverpool, the Canadian Red Cross was there. Millions of articles of clothing, shoes, blankets and other comforts have been distributed.

Thousands of children in Britain have been made orphans by the war. The Canadian Red Cross has fed and clothed many of these homeless ones and found them shelter.

The Canadian Red Cross Society maintains Enquiry Bureaus through which families in Canada obtain information regarding missing relatives. Through these Bureaus, prisoners-of-war or missing civilians are located. The work is carried on in co-operation with the International Red Cross at Geneva, Switzerland.

The Canadian Red Cross has supplied 38 mobile kitchen units for Britain's fire fighters. These units are equipped to go into bombed areas and feed 250 workers at a time.

TWO ARE INJURED
NEAR BALLANTRAE

A party of week-end vacationists to Musselman's Lake were forced to return to Toronto early Sunday, when their car left the highway and careened down a steep embankment near Ballantrae, Saturday night.

Harry Wilson, aged 20, of Briar Hill road, Toronto, driver of the car, suffered severe cuts over the right eye, facial abrasions and lacerations to his right knee. Maiale Chepmann, 16, of Lakeview, riding in front with the driver, suffered facial cuts and abrasions and an injured leg. Both were thrown out of the car, and had to be extricated from the wreckage. Four others escaped unscathed.

Wilson told County Constable Aubrey Fleury, of Aurora, that the car suddenly went out of control, left the highway, and careened down an eight-foot embankment. "It rolled one complete turn and landed on its wheels," he said. The machine was almost totally demolished, police reported. Constable R. Windsor, of Whitchurch Township also investigated.

The injured were treated by Dr. J. McPherson of Mount Albert, and later taken to their homes.

TRINITY UNITED W.A. MEET

The regular meeting of Trinity W.A. was held on Thursday with the president, Mrs. W. Brooks in the chair. Mrs. W. Geer read the scripture lesson from 1st Cor. 11:23-29: "Prayer is the language of Faith and Jesus is our example." Prayer was offered by Mrs. J. A. Maitland. Miss B. Neilly told us about intoxicants and war. "We would not learn the way of peace now we are forced to learn the way of war. The service we should have given to God now is conscripted by the country."

It was decided to hold a tea and talent sale on the regular meeting day, the first Thursday in June.

By Golden Glow

I am writing this Thursday, May 7, and my article in the paper today would no doubt be telling of the wonderful weather, for certainly April was exceptional. It broke the record for being the warmest April ever! And of course everyone kept on "Oh we need rain, the farmers need rain!" Well, last night and today we sure are getting it, and it is a cold dreary rain. We had to have fires in the furnace again, and warm clothing, raincoats, umbrellas and goloshes! Well, they say "variety is the spice of life," so we should be "well seasoned!"

It is Thursday morning and I thought I needed a rest, so here I am! It is always hard to work happily a day like this somehow. You think you need the electric light on, then your work takes you to another room and you forget to turn on the light and wonder what's the matter. It will probably clear up by noon, but if not what a day for Toronto's blackout!

I was looking to make sure that some dark material I have on hand was where I could put my hand on it quickly if our turn comes, as come it might, and come suddenly and unexpectedly. No use locking the stable door when the horse is gone!

Life goes on very smoothly for us here in Newmarket compared to many places. We hear of all these bombings over Britain and we shiver as the places named are where our boys are, but we can do little or nothing. Then someone says "It will be our turn next!" But even if we feel that way, why don't we do something. We should at least have thought it out in our mind what to do in case. Have one room, as the president's wife said, "one room where we can be certain the precautions for a complete blackout are prepared. Have an emergency pantry shelf! Have some comfortable chairs handy! Have a supply of water and of sand, or heavy rugs in case of fire!"

This looks like a "To be continued in our next," for I did not get far last Thursday. And I may as well add, before I start on another subject, that it rained all day, and when the sun came out next day it was perfectly lovely, as if nature had given every last thing a good clean-up. The fruit trees and the lilacs are in full bloom, and bleeding-heart and tulips make a splendid show.

I went for a ride down Yonge street one day this week, and it is mauve and white lilacs everywhere even in the city, in between houses where you'd never dream anything could grow. There are lilacs covered with flowers. And the lovely flowering quince! Mr. Norman Williams has one of the very best, at his home on Niagara street, and every year I look for the one down Yonge street at a bungalow there, not far from Sir Wm. Mulock's, and on the west side of the road. Certainly a flower lover lives there!

And on University Ave. south of the parliament buildings, beside one of the many monuments are three huge beds with nothing else in but pansies, all in full bloom. I did not see as many tulips in Queen's Park this year as in other years.

It was my annual "pilgrimage" down Yonge St., my family know my love of a trip down Yonge St., "In Lilac Time" as the old song says. So a picnic trip was combined with a business trip, and we went along the lake shore road to Sunnyside, then up into High Park to have our picnic lunch. It was all too short, as our appointment in the city was for 1.30, but oh how lovely everything there was. Of course we saw the enclosure with all the animals. I think the queer dromedaries called out most comments. Such huge, ungainly creatures with the humps on their backs.

The mountain goats were very active along the steep hills of their home, while the buffalo certainly looked as if the moths had been at them. A tiny, tiny fawn was wobbling about on slender legs near its mother, and such an air of peace and contentment reigned over the whole place! Quite a few others were like-minded with us, and were also eating a picnic lunch in the park.

Then like a bomb-shell comes the news of a freighter being sunk in the St. Lawrence inside Canada. So, we say, it CAN happen here! Minnesota complains Canada's defenses in the Hudson's Bay district are not adequate, that their huge, iron ore supplies are in danger. The man in Minnesota must have been to see that marvellous picture "The 49th Parallel," and he must have realized that if a sub DID manage to get in there, and land its crew, they could scatter to all parts of the American continent and do untold damage. Talk about Fifth Column!

And I am the one who said I wanted to keep the war, and all pertaining to it from my Golden Glow articles! You just can't do it! It is "In for a penny, in for a p." or should you write that "In for a penny, in for a pound!" And we sure are "In it!"

Sunday was Mother's Day, and once again it has come and gone, and I hope it leaves as lovely memories to every other mother as it does with me! But oh, we must all recall there is one mother whose heart is sad, and that is the mother in London, Ontario, whose baby was kidnapped from its carriage outside a grocery store as she did her weekly shopping. What a tragedy! The radio has appealed to the one who took the baby to give it the proper food, and had the formula broadcast. The government has offered $1,000 reward for information. The Boy Scouts and the citizens have made exhaustive search of the neighborhood, and now the soldiers are asking the government to be allowed to scour the country in search of the missing child.

It all recalls the famous Lindbergh case. The whole world knew about that! Of late years kidnapping seems to have become an obsolete word, and it is with horror that we keep hearing repeated messages over the radio to the kidnappers of the baby. It was even asked that they leave the baby in some place where it would be found, and nothing more would be said, but with no results so far. Our hearts ache for that mother, and the mothers with sons killed, and with sons missing in this terrible war.

You see, no matter what I write about my pen brings me back to that dread subject! Perhaps I'd just better end this. It isn't making very good reading, I am sure. I feel rather depressed, too, for there is thunder in the air, and twice, too, I have been called up by loyal Newmarket citizens who want to know what we can do about the dogs that destroy our flower gardens.

There's the oriole singing to me from the old soft maple tree in my neighbour's gardens, and how can I persist in being blue and depressed with that glorious voice in my ear? What if the birds did not come back every spring? Oh! Oh! What a sad world it would be! The bees, the birds and the flowers—the trees and the grass, to say nothing of the splendid vegetable gardens in our good old town! I am glad to say that our old historic elm tree on Timothy street seems to have come through the winter quite safely.

"So long for now!"

Deer in King township, especially along the marshlands, is a common sight, but to see a pair of bush wolves within a hundred yards of Glenville pond was the experience of the editor Sunday afternoon.

ECHOES FROM THE SANCTUARY

(This column is dedicated to the task of bringing a little of the church to those who are shut-in. Its main content will be the pith or kernel of one or other of the sermons given on the previous Sunday).

In this week's message to my shut-in friends, I seek to give the gist of both sermons preached on last Lord's Day, which was the Sunday set aside for the remembrance of our mothers.

During six years in the Gospel ministry, I have been ushered into the presence of mother love so pure, unstinting and unselfish that it would have brought tears of appreciation to the eyes of the hardest man of the world. However, I have also been brought face to face with mother love which had become so perverted and tainted by selfishness that it would have caused the tears of shame to run down the cheeks of any genuine parent.

Our Sunday sermons dealt with both types of mothers: in the morning service, when parents brought their children to the altar of dedication, we spoke briefly of the beautiful story of Hannah, the mother of Samuel, who offered to God a mother's choicest gift, her own son.

Hannah is a perfect example of motherhood at its best. When the story opens, she is childless, but being true to the highest and best feminine instincts, she asks the Lord for a baby. What a contrast to many so called career women of to-day, who prefer the bit of vanishing filthy lucre they may earn to the joy and crown of motherhood!

Hannah's glory shines the brighter when she is heard offering her unborn son to God. She may have reasoned that a woman who becomes a mother is simply one of God's creatures who has been highly honoured, because she has been permitted to co-operate with God for the creation of a human being. She may have realized therefore, that the child would belong to God as well as to herself, so she dedicated her son even before he was born to the service of Jehovah.

It is one thing to make such a promise, but quite another thing to keep it. But Hannah's glory shines undimmed, for as soon as the child was old enough to leave her, she took him to the Temple, and gave him to the High Priest for life-time service.

Now—did Hannah lose her child? Well, she lost the maternal joy of feeding her boy, of watching him play, of tucking him into bed each night, and the hundred and one attentions a mother loves to administer. But she did NOT lose her boy. In the first place, she knew the joy of co-operating with God for the creation of a man. But in the second place, she experienced the indescribable joy and thrill of co-operating with God for the production of a GOOD man, a Godly man, whose name stands near the very top of the Honour Roll of history.

At the evening service, we allowed our minds to dwell on an example of motherhood which became perverted because of its prodigality and selfishness. She is Rebekah, the mother of Esau and Jacob.

The opening chapter of her biography gives us what many consider the Bible's most beautiful love story, in the bringing together of Isaac and Rebekah. For twenty years, these two lovers lived in exquisite domestic felicity and harmony. But at the end of that chapter, twins were born, and a new era began for that happy household.

The mother became guilty of favouritism. First, she began to neglect her fine husband for the two boys who had come into their lives. But going from bad to worse, she finally transferred the whole of her violent and prodigal love to the stay-at-home boy, Jacob. Favouritism will always divide a home, and that home was no exception. On one side of the curtain were Isaac and his older son, Esau, doubtless driven closer together by their mutual exile to which they were driven by the mother of the home.

So completely did Rebekah transfer her love to the boy Jacob, that she could play as dirty a trick as woman ever played upon a man. She deceived her blind and dying husband in order to make absolutely sure that all the benefits of his will would accrue to her favourite Jacob.

These are a few of the results of that mother's favouritism, which when analysed, turns out to be sheer selfishness.

First, she forfeited the fellowship of her husband. At first, she did not want his fellowship, but there must have been times in later life when she yearned for someone to love her and confide in her, but found no response, even from her husband. Wives, be careful! The same thing has been enacted in a million homes since then. You cannot afford to estrange a good husband, for you "twain are one flesh."

Secondly, she lost the affection of her older son. Once again we say that she did not seem to care a fig for his affection. But in later years, Esau was the only member of the household within five hundred miles of her, how she must have yearned for a tender word from him. But she herself had driven him from her confidence and affection. Be careful, mother! There is many a boy wandering the distant salt flats because his mother bestowed the bulk of her affections upon some other member of the household.

Finally, Hannah lost that which she cherished most in all the world, the fellowship of the boy upon whom she had lavished all her love. He had to flee for his life, but his mother thought he would return in a matter of a few weeks or months. But for twenty years he stayed away, not daring to return home and face the wrath of his enraged brother Esau whom he and his mother had conspired to defraud. The pampered boy never saw the prodigal mother again. She must have pined away in unspeakable longing for the sight of his face and the sound of his voice which never again came to her. Over her grave in the Cave of Machpelah might be inscribed the epitaph "Died of a broken heart."

This is the challenge we offer the mothers of Newmarket: the mothers and fathers of to-day, and of to-morrow—the greatest task entrusted to mankind is entrusted to parents, in the producing of good men and women. Good men and women make a good world, and Godless men and women will give us such a world as we have today. In co-operating with God to make Christian men and women, parents are engaging in the supreme task of the Universe. This, then, is the conclusion of the homily: you can only take your children as close to God as you are yourself, and only with the help of God can Godly men be produced.

Certain important properties of rubber are destroyed by excessive heat or cold.

The famous Dr. Mary Walker was among the first professional women to adopt masculine attire. One day, dressed in frock coat and neat well pressed trousers, she was strolling along the road to Wareham, a Massachusetts town near Buzzard's Bay, when she met an old fisherman.

"Tell me," she said, "Is this the way to Wareham?"

"Well, blessed if I know," the old man replied. "This is the first time I've ever seen any on a lady."

AURORA CHOIR OF 90 VOICES THRILLS IN WAR-AID CONCERT

Tuesday-night in the United Church, on behalf of The Evening Telegram British War Victims' Fund and the Aurora Red Cross, the Aurora Victory Chorus brought to a climax and closed their first season with a program, built around their most ambitious undertaking to date, "The Trumpet Call," by Healey Willan.

Six months ago a few Aurora citizens, recalling a similar project of the last war, set out to form a choir "to provide inspiration and background for outstanding speakers, and to promote a spirit of enthusiasm for our fighting forces, and to be the means of raising money for war charities." Jillyd Harris, a choir leader of 20 years, known throughout the province for his outstanding work, offered his services, and volunteers were called.

Today the chorus has 90 members, drawn from all the church choirs, and including many who had not known before that they could sing. Twice a week, faithfully, they practised, until last night when they filled the church and thrilled their audience by their clear sweetness of tone and the unexpected finish with which they sang "O Lovely Night," "Prætorious; a Dutch Carol," "Prayer of Thanksgiving;" "Linden Lea," by Vaughan Williams, and Healey Willan's "All Hail the King."

Interspersed with these, Ellis Lee McIntock, a member of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, accompanied by his mother at the piano, brought out the full beauty of four cornet solos, "Showers of Gold," by Herbert Clarke; Gehl's "For You Alone;" "Spanish Caprice," by Leonard Smith, and d'Hardelot's "Because." Then, with Miss Marjorie Andrews at the organ and Mrs. I. Harris at the piano, Mr. McIntock played the solo for "The Trumpet Call."

Healey Willan set this poem of Noyes to music with an experienced choir in mind, so it was with justifiable pride in its new people's chorus, as well as the intensified patriotism it inspired, that the audience received this stirring composition.

The Aurora Public School Choir of 65 soprano voices joined in to close the program with Parry's "Jerusalem" and "Canada, Dear Land O' Mine," by Marshall. The combined choir could have filled a far larger hall, but Mr. Harris' restraining hand drew out their full rounded tones. In the school room of the church, while refreshments were being served, by the Women's Auxiliary under Mrs. C. Bibbrough, the chorus, through Mrs. A. M. Kirkwood, presented a purse to their leader. He in turn commended them, under their hardworking committee, Rod V. Smith, president; John A. Walton, secretary; Dr. A. W. Boland, treasurer, and Ralph Grieves and Chas. Davies, membership, for their remarkable progress and the harmony and enthusiasm which had produced it through the winter.

often for on a fourth approach Johnson got him squarely with machine-gun fire. He was hit all right and when we last saw him he was in a dive."

The whole starboard propeller of Hiley's craft flew off over the French coast before the crew managed to extinguish the blaze in the engine. He considered ordering the crew to jump but decided they could not leave the dead tail gunner. When he reached England "I picked out the biggest and best-looking field I could see and set her down on her belly."

Johnson commented: "How Freddie got her home we'll never know."

The cigarette case which saved Maitland's life was a farewell gift from Miss Betty Gentes of Vancouver. Bulged and bucked by an anti-aircraft fragment which other wise would have pierced his chest the case is the young pilot's proudest possession.

"I guess I was pretty lucky," the tall, quiet-spoken British Columbian said. "We were on the outward journey, near the coast, when we were caught in a cone of searchlights, and almost immediately there was a burst of flak directly above us."

"The port engine was hit and caught fire, the port wing and flap were damaged and the windscreen holed."

"I felt, a chunk hit me in the chest. I couldn't tell how serious the injury was, but it partly stunned me. Then I began to feel a bit queer. I figured the best thing to do was to head for home while I could. Flak was pretty thick, but we jettisoned our bombload and, with a bit more luck, we made it."

His observer, Sergt. Ernest Garrett of Toronto, interrupted: "It wasn't so much luck as sheer courage on Bill's part."

Sergt. Edward Danes of Toronto, the air gunner, added: "It was a great show on Bill's part." Maitland surveyed ruefully the ruined cigarette case and commented: "Not content with spoiling my silver case, the flak had to go and cut through my one and only pair of suspenders."

Weddings

AMY MURRELL WEDS RALPH STICKWOOD

One of the prettiest of spring weddings was solemnized on Saturday afternoon, May 2, at the home of the bride's parents, when Amy Leona, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Murrell, Sharon, became the bride of Ralph Wesley Stickwood, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stickwood of Queensville.

The ceremony was performed beneath a white wedding bell which was the centre of an arch decorated with white and pink streamers. Roses, orange blossoms, bleeding-hearts and daffodils decorated the room. Rev. Shannon of Queensville officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gown in dusky rose and wore a corsage of pink roses. Miss Eveleen Murrell, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Her dress was of medium blue and she wore a corsage of yellow roses. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Thomas Stickwood. The wedding music was played by the groom's sister, Miss Marjorie Stickwood.

After the ceremony a reception was held, Mrs. Murrell wearing navy blue crepe, while Mrs. Stickwood wore a redingote dress of sheer navy.

For travelling the bride chose a suit of black wool with dusky pink accessories. Amid showers of confetti the couple left on a brief honeymoon for parts north. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stickwood will reside at 16 Duane Road, Toronto.

ARE WED AT PRETTY CHURCH CEREMONY

St. John's church, Newmarket, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday morning when Beatrice Patricia, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Trivett, Newmarket, became the bride of Joseph Frain, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Frain of Toronto. Dr. W. D. Muckle officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a Queen's blue wool afternoon dress, hat to match and beige accessories with corsage of pink roses. Her sister, Marjorie, was bridesmaid wearing a dusky rose wool afternoon dress with hat to match, beige accessories, and corsage of red rosebuds. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. John Frain. Arthur Peppiatt, Jr., was an usher and the bride's youngest sister, Miss Madeline Trivett, was soloist.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Huron Street west, the bride's mother receiving in Alice blue crepe, black accessories and corsage of roses and sweet peas. The groom's mother chose a dress of navy blue crepe, black accessories and corsage of sweet peas. The young couple left on a short trip to Montreal and Quebec, the bride travelling in a grey tailored suit with navy blue accessories. On their return they will reside in Toronto.

FIFTY MILLION POUNDS SCRAP RUBBER IS OBJECTIVE

Fifty million pounds is a lot of scrap rubber, but that is the amount required in Canada this year. It means five pounds from every man, woman and child in Canada. It means that rubber must be salvaged from every available source. DIG OUT THE OLD RUBBER.

About one half of our normal imports of vegetable oils have been cut off. At the same time our requirements have increased from 450 million to 525 million pounds per year. Every one hundred pounds of animal fat makes 90 pounds of soap and ten pounds of glycerine. Four million pounds of glycerine are required this year, or two pounds of fat each month from each family in Canada.

Commencing May 15 all salvage in Canada will be purchased by a Government Company, Wartime Salvage Limited. Large quantities of salvage are available in remote areas, where freight and collection costs make handling unprofitable. These materials will now be collected and extra costs absorbed by the government owned company. The quantities being collected are tremendous but not sufficient to meet requirements.

Metal, paper, rubber, rags, bones and fats are all badly needed. Make an effort to have all salvage materials ready for the next collection on May 30.

EYE EFFICIENCY AND THE WAR EFFORT . . .

Today's needs require men and women with perfect vision. Inefficiency in eye-sight should not be tolerated whether it be in factory, office or home. The better you see, the better you work.

CORECTAL wide-angle of vision lenses are recommended by the profession in Canada. Cost no more than other fine lenses. But, unlike ordinary lenses, THEY GIVE CLEAR VISION RIGHT TO THE VERY EDGE.

To be sure of having glasses exactly suited to your eyes it is first absolutely necessary to have a qualified expert examine them. Then—and only then—is it possible to say whether glasses are needed. And if so—what glasses.

EDITORIAL

This is the last issue of the Express-Herald under the present management—within the next few weeks Newmarket will join the multitude of one-paper towns for the duration of the war at least, while communities served by two weeklies grow ever fewer. It is with the deepest regret that your editor writes "30" to his editorship of this historic journal after ten years its manager. Established in 1896 this newspaper has always striven to serve the community and district without fear or favour, and we hope that it will be missed in your homes each Thursday. We know that we will miss bringing the happenings of the district to your door.

Despite the fact that more people are subscribing to the Express-Herald than at any previous time, I (and we revert to the personal pronoun) have felt for the last two years that as a good Canadian with Yorkshire blood in my veins that running one of two weeklies in a town of our size was not doing a great deal toward Canada's war effort and possibly your readers have felt the same. The next year or two will bring vast changes to our lives and way of living.

Looking back over the decade that it has been my privilege to be your editor, I recall much of joy and very little sorrow. True I have never given you any literary masterpieces or gems of thought, but I have conscientiously worked to make our community a better place in which to live. Any and all societies, no matter of what religious or political persuasion, had the unstinted use of these columns. Much which could have been written remained unsaid, and while some of it would have made good news at the time no one was hurt by leaving it out of print. No one ever asked me to leave a name out of the paper that the request was refused, although the full particulars had in many cases already been printed in the daily press. To my subscribers I say a sincere "Thank You" for your yearly donation over that period. In the first and last analysis, without you a paper could not exist. To the advertisers goes my heartfelt thanks. You have been more than generous in your support. You correspondents and contributors of weekly articles are really the backbone of a town paper and you will never know how much your weekly budget meant.

I do not want this farewell editorial to sound too much like an obituary—far from it. Who knows what the next few years may bring. Possibly some day, when peace has settled over this war-torn world, I will once more be seeking your support as the editor of the Newmarket Arrow—time alone will tell!

JOIN THE RESERVE ARMY

At Ottawa events are shaping swiftly toward the launching of the total war effort demanded of the government by the people through the plebiscite.

Soon the man power of Canada will be mobilized to meet any conditions that may eventuate from the war. Everything indicates that Canada, following the example of 1914-1918 will send its armies out to meet the enemy upon their own ground.

With the departure of those fighting forces the duty of defending Canada will develop on those who are left behind. For that reason it now becomes the paramount responsibility of every Canadian citizen, not able to join an active service unit, to learn something of the grim business of war, something of the means that must be taken to defend homes and families.

There is only one effective means of getting that training. Join Canada's reserve army and prepare to meet what destiny holds for the Canadian people at home.

LET THIS SOAK IN

"The Navy League of Canada is not financed through government grants," according to David H. Gibson, Dominion president. Let that soak in.

"Such grants as we have from the government are only for that portion of Navy League War Service program which affects hostel operations. It is further of vital importance that the Canadian public continue its support of the Navy League in order that our welfare work and Sea Cadet activities may continue," he added.

Mr. Gibson's statement was made to correct the impression which has recently gained ground, in some cities, to the effect that the Navy League work was now being financed by the government. That this was entirely wrong, was his emphatic statement when interviewed on the subject.

Remember this on Navy League Tag Day in June.

WANTED — $7,500

Newmarket's share in the Red Cross drive is $7,500 — an increase of $2,500 over the first appeal.

In Victory Loan and War Savings campaigns we were only asked to lend, but here is an opportunity to GIVE to the war effort. Despite any petty sniping aimed at the Society, we believe the Red Cross is one of the most commendable and most deserving organizations in Canada. When the canvasser calls at your door, give generously to an organization working for the relief of human suffering. Give, and thank God the privilege of giving is still ours.

In his memorable broadcast, in March, Eric Knight, famous Yorkshire author, said: "Only one who has seen the splendid and generous work of the Canadian Red Cross in Britain could say 'thank you' as fervently as I do."

Scores, hundreds of thank-yous have come from bombed-out, whose loss and suffering have been eased, not only by supplies from Canada but by the thought behind them.

It is only through the Canadian Red Cross Society that any Canadian can do anything for a Canadian, British, Australian or New Zealand prisoner of war. It is only through its enquiry bureau and its facilities for international investigation that information may be obtained as to missing Canadian fighting men. It is only through the services of the blood donor branch of the Red Cross Society that those Canadians unable to fight can supply blood to make good some of that shed by our fighting men overseas.

Between January 6, 1941, and March 27, 1942, 726,158 parcels of food for prisoners of war were dispatched from Canada. In Toronto some 450 volunteer women workers, in Montreal some 200, are packing 40,000 prisoners-of-war parcels each week. In twelve months the cost has been more than $5,000,000.

Now the British Government has asked that the number of parcels be increased to 80,000 per week. And food must be sent to Canadian prisoners in the Far East.

The sum required to carry on these humanitarian services during the current twelve months is $9,000,000. The $9,000,000 must be raised by voluntary contributions. This year the Canadian Government is supplying funds needed by various war service organizations. But the Red Cross is necessarily excluded from that arrangement. The Red Cross Society is international. Its position rests upon the Conventions of Geneva, ratified by acts of parliament. These require the society to be supported by voluntary subscriptions, and it is only by maintaining such support that the Canadian Red Cross Society can command the rights, privileges and immunities guaranteed under the international law. No belligerent government may finance the Canadian Red Cross Society; to do so would be to destroy the international status of the Society and even wipe out its immunity under fire. Our objective is $7,500.

NOTE AND COMMENT

For a long time there has been the agitation that two papers in a town the size of Newmarket was not necessary. For the past two weeks we have been wondering if even one paper was needed in this town.

We can remember when the run-away horse provided just as good a story for the paper as an auto fatality does now—and without killing any person.—Annapolis Chronicle.

Eighty thousand food parcels a week for British prisoners of war in Nazi-held territory is the objective of the Canadian Red Cross this year. Make Newmarket help. The campaign for $7,500 opened here on Monday.

When you read of a tanker being sunk in the Atlantic and sailors going to death in the burning oil that spreads over the waters it may be a reminder that these sailors are transporting gas intended for necessary use, but not for joy rides.

The large number of auction sales emphasizes the gradually increasing trek towards the cities. So many young men have joined the armed forces or gone into munition plants the farms are now being operated almost wholly by men who have passed middle age.

The farmer, in many cases, finds himself physically unable to carry on and has sold his livestock, implements and household effects and quit farming.

Motorists who were given an A or B category when the gas ration books were handed out can soon laugh at their more fortunate neighbours who boasted of BX, C or higher ratings. Insurance rates will in future be adjusted according to your gas ration rating. Reductions for the lowly A or B and increases for the others. Perhaps some of those folks, who insisted on a big ration book, which they didn't need, will now regret it.

moves to a new location elsewhere in the near future. Classes in both English and French are held.

Language is the big thing. Lt.-Col. Muir stated, explaining that the biggest percentage of the men now stationed at the training centre are French-Canadians who came here from rural Quebec and the Maritimes and that all army commands must be understood in English. The explanation, as to how such commands are carried out may be given them in French, however.

The educational books being used are those prepared by the Canadian Legion War Services.

"When they first asked me to come up here, I thought I was going to get into something I wouldn't like," stated Lt. Kenneth Hatch, former school teacher now on the instructional staff, "but I've never had a public school class where I've had the spontaneous response I've had here."

"A lot of these boys couldn't write their names when they came here. It's muscular control as much as anything else, as a lot of them have had several grades of public school, but haven't had a pen in their hands since they left school," he added.

"The Canadian Legion is certainly coming through as they promised—they have sent us 900 elementary education books already," declared Mayor G. E. Macklin, M.C., second in command of the training centre, as he reviewed the progress made one week after the classrooms were instituted.

Department Helps

The Ontario Department of Education had also sent a good deal of useful materials, including stocks of mimeographed loose-leaf correspondence courses, such as the department uses in giving studies as high as matriculation to persons living too far away from schools to attend regularly. Three hundred educational books had also been received from the French division of the department.

Both the English and French wings of the instructional staffs are now almost complete. On the English staff are: Lieutenants Warren P. Davey (Cross of St. George), Allan Cleghorn, Tom A. Goulding, Kenneth Hatch, James D. McLean, Harold C. Mitchell, Ross Paterson, Roland P. Nash, William G. Porter, John S. Robertson, Robert E. Story, C. C. Wilson and M. M. Dudley. Lieutenants Davey, Nash and Wilson are veterans of the First Great War.

Instructors of the French wing, to which will be added three more teachers who are already chosen, are: Lieutenants R. Leplne, H. Cyr, R. Bergeron, Henri Pallhard. The senior instructor is Captain H. Bastien.

The majority of the men training at the camp at present have already had anywhere from five weeks to five months in the army. Those who have completed their basic training are there for the educational studies and language work.

Most of them have previously had some school subjects, but resided in rural areas where their education wasn't put into practice and they now require only a brushing-up course.

LETTERS FROM BOYS OVERSEAS

Battle Sussex,

April 1, 1942.

Dear Dad,—

I received your letter to-day when I got in from the afternoon's work. It's good to hear about Canada after these two years here, and especially about the fellows in camp back there, the lucky dogs.

I have a big surprise for you. Things went off swell and I was married on January 21. My wife is living in Eltham at the present time, and she is working in London at the Belgian Chamber of Commerce. Her dad is the director. We are looking forward to getting back home soon.

Denise wants to meet the family and I want you all to see her. She's "tops" dad. A cute little witch with a heart of gold. I guess after all, my guardian angel has hit the jackpot, because I'm awfully happy and proud of my little English rose. More about that later.

I'm glad to hear Peter is coming ahead in his sports. I hope he does as well in school. Make him stick it dad; I wish I had.

I haven't received one of your parcels. I guess they are all at the bottom now. I get my smokes from the Vets, Firemen and Lions regularly. Also the Era and Express-Herald. Please give my thanks to all the people responsible for sending them. It's very good of them to think of the fellows over here, and we certainly do appreciate it.

I suppose the name Battle Abbey brings back memories to you. We are billeted in it at the present and are as comfortable as can be expected. Sussex is very beautiful, but I'll take Kent for everything. The loveliest flower gardens, the best hops for the best beer, and last but not least the prettiest women (my wife is from Kent).

Earl Wrightman is with the Reece. He's in "C" squadron, stationed at Ninfeld, not far from Battle. Jim is out of the hospital now and is in the same troop with me. He's troop D.R. and I drive a carrier. I am getting trades pay, 25s a day, starting next month. I get a lump of back pay when it comes through.

We are starting our spring training now and have had several good schemes, but due to this "Save Rubber and Petrol Drive," we haven't done any big ones yet. I think we ought to be due for a two-weeks' manoeuvre pretty soon. I was in tactics and stuff, so you can draw your own conclusions. The Commandos seem to be going to town in real style. This St. Nazaire raid was the best yet.

We have a fellow here who transferred from the Commando's into our outfit because he was born in Canada, and he says they aren't any tougher than the Canadian Infantry or Reece. So you can rest assured that the boys over here won't let Canada down when the time comes.

Den and I had a wonderful time in London when we got married. We stayed at the Strand Palace for a couple of days until I had to go back to the unit, but I am getting another leave next week. Meanwhile we manage to spend a few weekends together in Battle or at Hastings. Denise has an old school chum there and we have a couple of rooms to ourselves on weekends. We are seeking the allowance in the bank every month. Den won't hear of us touching it till after the war. She earns good money at her job and insists that she doesn't need any

HUSBAND AND WIFE ARE LAID AT REST

Interment took place Wednesday at St. Philip's Cemetery, Unionville, of Murray Hill and his wife Eliza Wilkes Hill, after service in their home on Main street at 2 p.m., followed by service in St. Philip's Anglican Church at 2.30 p.m. Both services were conducted by Rev. A line once again to thank you for your so long forward to paper which I received regularly. It certainly helps to make our stay here a pleasant one and I'm sure all the local lads agree with me and the work the "Town" are doing for us is appreciated by us all here in England.

Thanks again for everything and give my regards and thanks to all in Newmarket.

Wishing you all the best of luck.

Sir Edward Beatty Becomes Chairman—

D. C. Coleman New C.P.R. President

D'Alton C. Coleman was elected president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company in succession to Sir Edward Beatty, G.B.E., K.C., LL.D., at Montreal, May 1. Sir Edward, whose recent illness brought on by over-exertion since the outbreak of the war caused his resignation after more than 23 years as president, still remains as Chairman of the Board on the request of the directors and will be available for counsel at all times.

Mr. Coleman, the fifth man to command the destinies of the world's greatest privately owned transportation system, is prominent in the field of education, is actively connected with many great Canadian industries and also thoroughly enjoys his positions as director of the Canadian Arena Company at Montreal and on the committee which administers the affairs of the Canadians in the National Hockey League. He is an enthusiastic fan. He is at present a member of the Board of Governors of the University of Bishop's College at Lennoxville, P.Q., and he gave outstanding service on the Board of Governors of the University of Manitoba. His library of Canadiana is one of the most comprehensive privately owned collections in the Dominion.

Quiet, forceful, brilliant, the new president of the Canadian Pacific Railway is noted for his capacity and industry. During his sixteen years as vice-president of western lines and six and a half years as vice-president and director of the company at Montreal, he proved himself to be one of the best railroaders in Canada.

Sir Edward Beatty, one of the first citizens of Canada and a leader in economic, industrial and social thought, became president of the Canadian Pacific Railway in 1918 a week before his 41st birthday. While his outstanding work was modernizing and extending the railway and successfully guiding it, he has been active in almost every branch of Canadian life. He is affiliated with more than a score of business concerns; has been Chancellor of McGill since 1921 and has also served other leading universities, his work earning him honorary degrees from twelve universities in Canada, the United States, Scotland and Ireland. He is a leader in welfare and philanthropic work, playing outstanding roles in such valuable organizations as the Boys' Farm and Training School at Shawbridge, Boy Scouts Association of Canada, British Empire Games Association, Royal Victoria Hospital, Salvation Army, St. John Ambulance Association, Montreal General Hospital, Montreal Boys' Association, Canadian Corps of Commissioners and Montreal Orchestra. He has been honored on many occasions, the most important being in 1935 when King George V made him a Knight Grand Cross of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire. Against a background of Windsor Station, which houses the Company headquarters at Montreal, the illustration shows Sir Edward and Mr. Coleman (right)

There was a large attendance at the Sunday school and worship services at Wesley Church last Sunday, and four baptisms administered.

The Y.P. meeting next Tuesday evening will be under the leadership of Miss Olive Bostwick. A cordial invitation is extended to all the young people of the community. For May 26 the Y.P. have planned a freak hike when each one will take his or her own supper and meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Richardson on the 4th at 6.30 sharp. A good time is anticipated.

Reserve the date, May 27, for the township S.S. convention at Lemonville. Plan to be there. There will be only three sessions and all on the one day this year.

The Vandorf Women's Institute will meet at the home of Mrs. Ralph Willis Wednesday afternoon May 20, at 2.45. Motto: "Habits are at first cobwebs, at last cables." Roll call: "My Pet Economy." Topic: "Feed Your Body to Protect Your Health." Mrs. J. Wright. Music: Mrs. C. Bostwick. Current event: Mrs. A. VanNostrand. Hostesses: Mrs. H. Stephenson, Miss A. Richardson. All ladies welcome.

The District Annual meeting of the North York Women's Institute will meet in the Friends' Church, Newmarket, Friday, May 22, at 10 o'clock sharp. Each lady will take her own lunch. Tea and dishes will be provided. We hope there will be a good attendance.

We congratulate Miss Mabel Carr on her success at the musical festival in Brampton in obtaining second place in her class. Her marks were 74, the highest 78. Mabel is a pupil of Mr. Lilyd Harris. We wish her further success.

We are sorry to hear that Joe Wright had to return to St. Michael's hospital for another operation, but glad he is now improving, and hope he will soon be home again.

Mrs. White, Mrs. Willis and Mrs. Colville attended the Union Street Women's Institute last Thursday afternoon, it being just a year since this branch was organized.

Mr. and Mrs. Ponting of Newmarket, and L.A.C. 1 Kenneth Ponting of Ottawa had tea with Mrs. R. Willis and Jean on Sunday.

Pte. Harry Lavendar is on furlough and visiting with friends.

Historical research is always an interesting subject. One can learn so much of and from the past that the fascination of that particular subject grows as one delves deeper into the past. With this consideration in view, we Institute members can look forward to the little sketches to be given by the Historical Research committee at the next Institute meeting. This is to be held on Tuesday, May 19, at the home of Mrs. Bert Dike.

Added to this music by Mrs. G. Wood and a reading by Mrs. W. Williams, and a roll call naming the former owners of your home and you have a program in keeping with glorious May.

Then there is the district annual convention of Women's Institutes to be held in the Friends' Church, Newmarket, on Friday, May 22.

When one considers the valuable information gained regarding Institute work, the hearing of the work of other Institutes, and the pleasant renewing of acquaintances with those but seldom met, one considers it as a day marked for a very special kind of enjoyment. Added to the other attractions are the excellent speakers to whom it is a pleasure and privilege to listen.

This year we depart from old established custom as regards our dinner. This year it travels with us, and in this, as in having the meeting centralized, we are trying to co-operate with war economy and use the money so saved for something more important. It is to be hoped that a real representation of the Institutes will gladden the hearts of the interested, for never was there such need for women's work.

Master Murray McClure took tea on Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. George Hunt.

Miss Frances Stickwood and Mr. Bill Walker of Toronto dined on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ridley.

The concert put on in Bogart-town school on Friday evening, by Mrs. Belugin's company, and sponsored by the committee who have the boys' overseas boxes in charge, was a great success. Colorful, fun-provoking and exceedingly well put on, the show gave great pleasure to all who saw it.

In assessing people's reactions I found that the "Awakening of Spring" seemed to strike some deep-rooted chord in harmony with the season. The awakening of the flowers by the rising of the sun was so full of color and gaiety and the butterflies and lady-bugs so elfishly ruffling and gay that it made a delightful impression.

The Hungarian dance and the solos by Miss Jean Davis were also much appreciated and enjoyed. In fact, with the play they composed an evening's entertainment that fully satisfied the audience, and left a delightful memory to lighten up the dark places. Financially, although only a collection was taken, the boys overseas will appreciate the generosity of the audience.

Mr. Goldie and Mr. Ray Kennedy of Unbride, and Mr. Fleming Young of Newmarket, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ridley spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Harper.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Ridley visited Mr. and Mrs. Wendover near Oakville on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Starr, Miss Huldah and Master Stuart Starr took tea on Sunday evening with Mrs. M. F. Starr.

"Keeping Cool" was the subject of a splendid talk given by Miss Sadie McQueen to the members of the Pine Orchard Willing Workers when they gathered on Wednesday of last week at the home of Mrs. Charles Toole. She spoke of the example of our Lord Jesus Christ, who in the midst of danger, temptation and betrayal, never lost the perfect peace which denoted a mind, heart and soul, at one, in harmony with the Creator of the universe and His Father and ours.

It was a talk that will come back to its hearers when they are tempted by worry and sorrow to let tempers flare and tongues unloose. The little Misses Marion Berge and Erla Toole sang most delightfully a hymn. This was much enjoyed as it is always lovely to see the children doing their bit. Mrs. Charles Toole read the scripture lesson and Mrs. Needler led in prayer.

Business was transacted and correspondence read, among them letters expressing appreciation of being remembered by the society while ill. At the conclusion the co-hostesses served delicious sandwiches and a cup of tea over which a pleasant half hour flew by on swift wings.

Mrs. Leslie Harper and Mrs. Albert Ridley spent Monday in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Willmore, Mr. Herbert and Miss Frances Willmore of Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Madill of Peche's Corners were supper guests of Mrs. Gordon McClure on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Forbes of Toronto spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Toole.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Needler of Chatham visited Mr. and Mrs. Albert Needler over the weekend.

Miss Dora McClure of Toronto was a weekend guest of her mother, Mrs. Gordon McClure. On Parents' Day at the Pine Orchard Union Church the Misses Marion Berge, Erla Toole and Masters David Preston, Donald Sheridan and Bruce Bryson sang very sweetly a hymn appropriate for the day.

In connection with the church, watch for a change of service time which will take place the end of the month.

Parents' Day saw the church well filled and those present heard a splendid sermon.

Mr. George Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hunt and Miss Edith Kay spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Patterson, Newmarket.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hall and Mr. George Hall of Sharon visited Mrs. Norman and Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Kay on Sunday.

Things

"Perplexities" It has always seemed to me in the spring that there should be special days of extra length while we work with all our strength, housecleaning within, without, finding everywhere about things to do and things to see, all piled up for you and me. Maybe you've an ordered mind; know just what you left behind when the snow began to fall, covering plants both great and small. No doubt YOU know every place where a certain flower did grace, so just never, to your sorrow, found your planting for tomorrow, cutting nicely, started shoots of your last year's healthy roots. Then, of course, I shape my head, try to look a year ahead, saying sternly as I do "this is just enough from you," this fall you will mark with care every plant, so you'll know where you can dig and delve with ease, knowing that you will not squeeze all the life from some perennial or destroy a fine biennial.

Twice already at this time I've been guilty of this crime, and the punishment just fits, for if I had large placards saying, "Never, never go s-laying harmless plants that want to live, and to you their perfume give. So I beg my readers gentle, make a written vow—or mental pledge, that you will make a chart, and from it you'll never part, till your plants come up in sight, and these worries all take flight.

Then I have another worry that has made me haste and scurry, namely an obnoxious weed which will always go to seed. Long ago 'twas given to me by a friend who said, "I'd see, just how brilliantly 'twould bloom, so I gave it lots of room. Now I'm told it is a weed. I'm sure that every seed finds a place within our borders causing many sad disorders, for right in the midst of flowers up it sends its yellow towers. It has roots that run a yard and to pull it out is hard. Also, oozing from its stem, there's a liquid you condemn, its as sticky too, as glue, and you wonder, yes you do, if the government's not throwing this away and never knowing that the rubber shortage might by its aid be put to flight.

In the meantime I just pull, thinking what an awful foot I was not to see the spread of this yellow part of dread. So I pull it in my dream and with nightmare woe, I scream, and I'll have no rest or peace till that plant its spread shall cease. If that time comes, and I doubt it, I shall write a poem about it.

And so on in other houses of worship we have not mentioned, the same theme of devotion and honour to the mother and the home, the sacred responsibility towards our children was dwelt upon. Anderson gave an interesting account of his former years' experience on the mission and outlying districts of Ontario North and Canadian West. We have no conception in these parts how bereft of comforts and even necessities are some of these Canadians of ours. Were we called to worship, we would expect to find a pulpit and chairs at least. On one occasion Mr. Anderson had to improvise this equipment in a lonely cabin where he was delegated to hold service.

Eversley church was indebted to Mrs. Walsh for beautiful tulips on Mother's Day.

Eversley church regret to learn that Mr. and Mrs. David McKee and daughters are about to leave the community. They have taken an active part in the church life and will be greatly missed indeed. We failed to mention in the foregoing descriptions, that Mr. Joseph Sutton and family placed a beautiful bouquet on the altar of Schomberg Anglican church on Sunday in memory of the late Mrs. Sutton.

MOVIES

"SMILING GHOST" & "SECRETS OF WASTELANDS"

Mystery, comedy, and adventure make up the exciting story of Warner Bros.' new film, "The Smiling Ghost," which is being shown at the Strand Theatre. It is the hair-raising story of a girl who is labelled as a jinx until a young graduate engineer exposes the curse as the diabolical scheme of a jealous lover. Wayne Morris, Brenda Marshall, and Alexis Smith share the starring roles.

As an added attraction the Strand presents the latest adventure of Hopalong Cassidy—William Boyd in "Secrets of the Wastelands."

"THE FLEET'S IN" & "BUY ME THAT TOWN"

Bigger and better film musicals seem to be the order of the day right now in Hollywood, with plenty of well-known featured entertainers supporting the stars.

While the country is engaged in the war production and defense effort, music and laughs are vital in building morale, and so CinemaLand is rising to fill the need.

The trend is typified in the new Paramount film musical, "The Fleet's In," which is chockin' of gobs, girls, gags and tunes, and stars three of the screen's most popular personalities—Dorothy Lamour, William Holden and Eddie Bracken.

Opening Monday at the Strand Theatre, "The Fleet's In" boasts an unusual line-up of talent, including Betty Hutton, America's Number One Jitterbug; Betty Jane Rhodes, song stylist; Leif Erickson, veteran of several well-remembered roles, and Jimmy Dorsey and his orchestra, featuring Bob Eberly and Helen O'Connell, vocalists.

"The Fleet's In" offers seven new song hits, many of which are sung by La Lamour herself.

Second hit — Lloyd Nolan in "BUY ME THAT TOWN," a new hilarious comedy of gangsters, with Constance Moore and Albert Dekker.

"BAHAMA PASSAGE" AND "FRIGHTENED LADY"

A star combination that proved itself so successful with its first appearance, is again due to hit the nation's screens. The lovely blonde, Madeleine Carroll and the stalwart blonde Stirling Hayden, who were so well paired in "Virginia," are coming next Wednesday to the Strand Theatre in their

Clean Telephone Lines for All-Out Production

GOING PLACES!

These howitzer shells, all stacked and ready to "go places" are just one of the twenty different types of heavy ammunition being made in Canadian plants. These plants are going places, too: 1942 production of all types of shells totals a million rounds a month! And that means complete rounds—cases, explosive charges, fuses and other parts—all made in Canada.

It takes plenty of planning to keep all these shell components flowing smoothly to the right place at the right time. It takes a lot of telephoning, too. And that is where we can all lend a helping hand. Every call you make is carried over an interlocking network of telephone lines—lines already heavily taxed by the volume of war business. By being unselfish in your use of existing telephone facilities—by always observing "Wartime Telephone Tactics"—you may be helping Canada's war production more than you know.

WARTIME TELEPHONE TACTICS

1. BE SURE you have the right number... consult the directory.
2. SPEAK distinctly, directly into the mouthpiece.
3. BE BRIEF. Clear your line for the next call.
4. ANSWER promptly when the bell rings.
5. USE OFF-PEAK hours for Long Distance calls: before 9:30 a.m., 1-2 p.m., 5-7 p.m., after 9 p.m.

These things may look trifling, but on 6,500,000 daily telephone calls, they are very important.

QUEENSVILLE

Give To The Red Cross During the next few days no doubt you will hear a great deal about the Red Cross. You will also be called upon by one of the many volunteer canvassers to help in this great drive for NINE MILLION DOLLARS. We must all realize what a worthwhile project this is and do our utmost to go over the top. We all know that the Red Cross can go places and do things that other organizations and governments cannot. Wherever the fires of war burn most fiercely, wherever suffering is greatest and danger deadliest, there, like the spirit of God upon earth, move the fearless, selfless men and women of the Red Cross. To-day, with hands outstretched towards you—eloquent, pleading hands—they ask your unstinted support to help them keep alight their lamp of humanity in a dark and stricken world. Honour them by giving generously—it is your privilege.
